Ketchikan Area Arts & Humanities Council

The KAAHC vision is that arts and cultural events bring people together in ways that expand horizons, challenge assumptions and beliefs and improve the quality of life in our community.

2019 Report to the Membership

Once again, I would like to highlight the inspiring dedication of our outstanding staff, the generous service of the Board, and the financial and volunteer contributions of our membership that produced another successful year for the Ketchikan Area Arts and Humanities Council.

I am pleased to share this 2019 annual report with you.

Our fun fall event, Beer & Brats sold out again. We partnered with Bawden Street Brewery and long-time supporting business Tatsuda's to offer a fundraiser that was more affordable to many of our members and the public. The 2020 tentative date is October 10.

I'll take a moment to thank Tatsuda's for all they have done for our organization and for all the non-profits in our community. There will be a fundraising dinner for them Saturday, April 25 at the Ted Ferry Civic Center. It says a lot about our community that one of the main sponsors is A&P, a competing grocery.

The 2019 Evening of American Wine and Cheese did not sell out nevertheless a delicious time was had by all. The 2020 Spanish Wine and Cheese was our last following events highlighting France, Italy, and the United States.

The 2019 "Home and Away" raffle was also a success. We sold all 450 tickets. We also learned from missteps in gathering envelope contents - better organization this year! The goal for 2020 is to have the envelopes ready to go by Beer & Brats.

Wearable Arts was fabulous. The opening act was spectacular, and the creativity of the artists and models was a joy. There are many programs like Arts Uncorked and the Main Street Gallery openings that should be mentioned as well. Huge thanks to the staff for their creativity and hard work.

Speaking of the Main Street Gallery – an exciting season that highlights emerging artists has been selected. Another season of exciting first Fridays is coming!

Board member Markel Wallace has gathered a Diversity and Inclusion Committee that takes to heart our commitment for the Board to look more like our community and our programs to reflect the amazing diversity of our small town. A huge thanks for her commitment.

We face challenging financial times with the possibility of another scorched earth austerity budget from the Dunleavy administration. We also could face a challenging time if City and Borough funds drop with a poor summer visitor season.

It has been an honor to serve as President of the Ketchikan Area Arts and Humanities Council. I look forward to the leadership and creativity that incoming Board President Peter Jacob will bring.

Yours for the arts!

Marty West, Outgoing President, KAAHC Board of Directors

"Volunteering is the ultimate exercise in democracy. You vote in elections once a year, but when you volunteer, you vote everyday about the kind of community you want to live in" ~ Unknown author

The Main Street Gallery was created by the Arts Council in 1987 to provide fine art exhibition opportunities for both emerging and established Ketchikan artists. The Main Street Gallery provides a non-judgmental environment for innovative arts, and encourages local participation and appreciation of a broad variety of art forms. Inclusion in the Main Street Gallery is by application and a rigorous selection process overseen by the Program Development Committee and the Board of Directors.

The 2019 Main Street Gallery exhibits included:

January, Cleo Weston - A Retrospective: 1930-2010 -

A curated exhibit celebrating Cleo's life, art and influence on artists she encouraged and mentored.

February, The 33rd Annual Wearable Art Show Gallery Exhibit -

An invitational exhibit of work from "Circus of Curiosities"

March, Art and Science on the Katmai Coast -

April, My Secret Synergy Garden -

A solo exhibit by Rhonda Green of hand constructed sculptures made from recycled, new, and found objects.

May, Merge -

A solo exhibit by Evon Zerbetz as she considers mechanical and organic themes in dimensional linocut constructions.

June through July, Artists of Ketchikan Invitational -

An invitational exhibit featuring local artists

August, 44th Annual Blueberry Arts Festival Gallery Exhibit -

An open call exhibit for artists of all ages working in all mediums

September, Lucidity -

A solo exhibit by Cammie May, inspired by the magic of SE Alaska

October, Perimeter -

A solo exhibit by Julie Berg-Linville delving into the narrative of life's boundaries

November, The Space Between -

A solo exhibit by Lori Orlowski exploring the spaces between

December, Ketchikan Youth in Art -

An open call exhibit open to young artists in the area

6,409 people visited the Main Street Gallery in 2019.

PERIMETER - Oct. 4-25, 2019

MERGE - May 3-24, 2019
 New works from artist Evon Zerbetz, as she considers mechanical and organic themes in dimensional linocut constructions.

The Annual Blueberry Arts Festival

began in 1975 and has been growing ever since. The 3-day Festival meets many needs of the community including economic stimulus, a family event, a celebration of our artistic community, an opportunity for all community non profit organizations to fundraise, disburse information and connect with their constituency, and a point of pride for Ketchikan. For artists, the Blueberry Arts Festival provides professional development (and workforce development for Ketchikan!), an opportunity for product testing, and in some cases the only place for musicians, dancers and poets to perform in front of an audience. In 2019, KAAHC again worked with the Borough to provide bus service for elders and mobility challenged participants to the festival.

For the past several years KAAHC has hosted Community Art Projects during the Blueberry Arts Festival. In 2019 KAAHC's Program Development Committee created a community art project that focused on what would happen if there was no art. The project was inspired by the potential elimination of the Alaska State Council on the Arts by the Governor. They also collaborated with the group, Ketchikan Recycles, to encourage people to think about how they use plastic bottles and to demonstrate how easy it is to recycle.

In 2019 an estimated 8,000 people attended the 44th Annual Blueberry Arts Festival

The success of the Blueberry Arts Festival is possible only through close partnership with the City of Ketchikan, the Ketchikan Gateway Borough, the State of Alaska, and the First United Methodist Church.

Alaska Airlines has sponsored the Blueberry Arts Festival since 2011

In 2019 KPU Telecommunications sponsored the Mainstage Events of the Blueberry Arts Festival

Community Connections Early Learning Program has sponsored the Pet & Doll Parade since 2009

The Annual Winter Arts Faire is our winter companion to the Blueberry Arts Festival, where community members come to see and purchase artwork from local artists.

Unlike the Blueberry Arts Festival, the 2-day Winter Arts Faire features only handcrafted fine art and crafts. In its 30th year, the Faire is held annually over the Thanksgiving weekend. Having reached maximum capacity for booth holders (and parking) at the Civic Center and Cape Fox, KAAHC decided to move the Faire to the Saxman Community Center in 2017. The SCC solved several recurring problems: it has more room for vendors, more parking, all the vendors are in one location, and KAAHC was able to bring a large portion of the population to the Saxman community. In 2019 we reinstated the Opening Gala Reception on Friday evening and the artists and audience was appreciative. We will continue to keep the opening reception in subsequent years.

Since 2008 KAAHC has sought to provide an opportunity for young people attending the Winter Arts Faire with their parents to have a creative experience during their visit. The KAAHC Program Development Committee is instrumental in providing creative opportunities for youth at the Winter Arts Faire. Youth was able to create art in a variety of mediums.

92 artists participated in the 2019 Winter Arts Faire.

In 2019, audience increased to almost 3900 people attending the 30th Annual Winter Arts Faire

First Bank has sponsored the Winter Arts Faire since 2008

Created in 1986, the Wearable Art Show celebrated its 33rd anniversary in 2019. The Wearable Art Show is an open, supportive, and inspiring opportunity for area artists to create and display artwork designed to be worn by the human body. Additionally, the Wearable Art Show is the Ketchikan Area Arts and Humanities Council's largest annual fundraiser. From its first performance in the old Main Street Gallery Black Box Theater, the Wearable Art Show now sells out 4 performances at the Ted Ferry Civic Center.

Artists, performers, stage crew, buffet coordinators, sound engineers, lighting crew, backstage and front of house are all volunteers. Artists often begin their pieces immediately upon hearing the next year's theme announced at the final performance. One-of-a-kind, extravagant to allegorical creations are traditionally made from everyday items including anything from hand-dyed fabric to pom-poms, metal to foam, books, camera film and almost always include the ubiquitous hot glue.

The extremely popular KAAHC Wearable Art Show is the first Wearable in Alaska, and KAAHC has developed a "primer" for the many other communities in and outside of Alaska to begin their own extravaganzas.

"Circus of Curiosities" The 33rd Annual Wearable Art Show:

- 4 sold out performances including an all-ages matinee
- 54 Works went down the runway including Matinee pieces
- 126 Artists and models participated in creating and performing
- Opening performance by Ketchikan Gymnastic Club, Studio MAX, Kyle Bailey, and Jillian Lindsey
- 106 Volunteers for buffet, front of house and backstage
- 2 Modeling seminars and 2 Workshops on building Wearable pieces
- 3 $100 materials grant offered, 2 taken

In 2019 KAAHC invited local restaurants to participate in the Wearable Art Show by showcasing their Culinary artistry. Local restaurants featured foods that were seasonal, or new, or related to the theme. New York Cafe, Cape Fox Lodge, and The Landing participated.

In 2019 KAAHC created reserved seating for the audience. This was in response to negative behavior and excessive drinking. We reduced the audience size, changed the seating to make it feel more like a theater event rather than a sporting event, raised ticket prices, and initiated reserved seating. In addition, KAAHC partnered with 49th State Security Services to provide security throughout the venue, but not oppressive, allowing the feel of the event to remain celebratory and excited.

In 2019 our revenue was down from years past. This was due to reduced seats, cutting off alcohol sales at the close of intermission. We learned an enormous amount with the change of the seating system, and received overwhelming positive response. In addition, our longtime sponsor, Wells Fargo, declined to continue to sponsor the Ketchikan Wearable Art Show.

Longtime artist Lynn Jorgensen passed in 2019. In honor of long participation, Lynn's Wearable Art was featured as the first piece on the runway. We said goodbye to her whimsical and beautiful creations in "Tears of a Clown" which showcased pieces Lynn created over the years.

The Annual Wearable Art Show would not be possible without the legion of volunteers that come together for the fundraiser including the Wearable Art Show committee: Loren McCue, Jennifer Hamilton, Susan Heisler, Jackie Keizer, Katy Posey, Rhonda Green, Barb Morgan, Leila Kheiry, Alex Vrabec, and Hunter Davis. Additionally the partnership with First City Players and Ketchikan Theatre Ballet is invaluable in the quality of the production.

1,524 people attended the Wearable Art Show in 2019.
The Wearable Art Show netted $43,669 in operating support for the Ketchikan Area Arts and Humanities Council.

The Torch Nights Performing Arts Series was created in 2001 to bring professional performing musicians to the community of Ketchikan. In the Spring of 2019 KAAHC officially ceased the Torch Nights Performing Arts Series and began to search out ways to assist more on local performers. We are shifting our focus from a single performance to more of a residency model. Bringing artists to Ketchikan for an extended period of time to teach, interact, and more fully engage. The Wearable Art Show and the Giggelfeet Dance Festival, once housed under the “Torch Nights Performing Arts Series”, will be stand-alone events moving forward.

Tim Easton was our first experiment with bringing an artist for an extended time period. Tim presented an intensive 4-day songwriting class with a live performance for the students during Tim's performance at the Saxman Tribal House. In addition, Tim visited Revilla High School and taught two days of song writing classes there. He also visited Schoenbar Middle School Band and the Kayhi music classes. Tim's class drew 4 students from Ketchikan, one student from Anchorage, and one student from Denmark!

The Torch Nights Performing Arts Series would not be in existence without the generous support of our hotel sponsors:

Celebration of the Sea ART WALK

 KETCHIKAN AREA ARTS AND HUMANITIES COUNCIL

Celebration of the Sea Art Walk, the Winter Art Walk and the new ARTober Art

Walk are annual events designed to highlight the arts of Ketchikan and downtown arts businesses. Art Walks encourage residents to come downtown for an evening, enjoy the artists and arts of our community, maybe have dinner and purchase something created by friends and neighbors. The Art Walks highlight the “Shop Local” concept during “slow” economic periods in Ketchikan when visitors are not here. The volume of people visiting local shops and making purchases is invaluable to the small businesses.

Estimated participation at the Celebration of the Sea Art Walk was 2,000

The annual Blessing of the Fleet produced by KAAHC and led by First City Ministries during the Art Walk, includes the US Coast Guard Honor Guard, Misty Thistle Pipe and Drums.

In 2019 KAAHC's Program Development Committee created a program called 7-7-7 Pop Up Galleries featuring 7 emerging artists, in 7 local businesses, for 7 weeks. Artists were featured during the Celebration of the Sea Art Walk, exhibits ran from April 15-June 3, 2019.

Featured artists:

Jason D. H Baldwin
Timothy Kent Bronschidle, Jr.
Janalee Gage
Andrea Mento
James North
Ema Oshima
Ktystal Jewel Thomas

Participating Businesses:

Green Bean Coffee Company
Kootéeyaa Koffee House
The Landing
Rain Country Nutrition
AJ's Gourmet Burgers
First Bank (Downtown)
New York Cafe

In 2019 KAAHC added a third Art Walk to our programs,

ARTober Art Walk. This Fall event is intended to give a final celebration for the community as we wind down for the winter and the visitor industry workers head home. 21 downtown art businesses joined the art walk including the opening of the ARTery, a brand new youth makerspace, and the new #11 Creek Street. Participating businesses reported that the ARTober Art Walk was very well attended and possibly showed the biggest Art Walk audience in some time. We will continue this new event in the future.

Estimated participation at the ARTober Art Walk was 2,000

In 2019 the Winter Art Walk included: 20 local businesses including the Tongass Historical Museum. The Winter Art Walk is a chance for local art galleries and art-centric businesses to shine in the winter. The Main Street Gallery features the annual Youth in Art exhibit showcasing young artists in the area.

Estimated participation at the Winter Art Walk was 500

Lifelong learning is integral to the philosophy and programming of the Arts Council. In 2019, KAAHC continued several programs targeting adults to provide access to experiencing the arts.

Stories at Latitude 56° and Story SLAM are opportunities for community members to tell their (mostly) true stories. In the telling and receiving of our stories, we celebrate and remember why we call Ketchikan home. In the 2019-2020 season we kept the emphasis on the more relaxed environment of the Story SLAM impromptu event. As the project coordinator, Jack Finnegan kept Summer Story Slam once a month which has garnered a very enthusiastic following. Storytellers were selected from Story SLAMS to perform in the Spring 2019 Stories at Latitude 56° event in April of 2019. Storytellers were mentored by Jack Finnegan, an experienced director and writer, throughout the process of developing their story for performance.

Story SLAM total audiences in 2019 were 706. Stories at Latitude 56 featured 10 story tellers and had an audience of 52 members.

Arts Uncorked is designed to introduce adults to a variety of artistic mediums in a relaxed and festive environment in the Main Street Gallery. All Arts Uncorked Teaching Artists are remunerated for their expertise. Since the inception of Arts Uncorked, several similar offerings have popped up in the community by for profit arts businesses. We will continue to evaluate our programs to diminish any duplication in the community.

2019 Arts Uncorked Classes included:

Face Facts! with Grace Freeman
Weaving with Debbie McLavey
Acrylic Techniques with Steven Villano
Advanced Metalworking with Kelsey Boyd
Drawing in Reverse! with Dave Rubin
Studies in Watercolor with MJ Turek

Arts Uncorked Classes total audience in 2019 was 103

The Ketchikan Area Arts and Humanities Council is cognizant of the breadth and variety of youth arts programming available through the many arts organizations in Ketchikan. KAAHC is excited to support existing programs while seeking to fill holes in the community's "palette" of arts opportunities for youth in Ketchikan.

The Saturday Morning ART - smART - Designed in 2014 to reach 1st-6th graders, smART classes expanded to include teens in 2019. However, no classes were given in 2019 due to very low enrollment.

KAAHC is going back to the drawing board for youth programming for the 2020-2021 season. We have established a conversation with an educator led program called, "Artful Teaching" in which the teachers are more focused on bringing artists into their classroom to deepen and enrich learning. KAAHC believes we can help build the program in collaboration, and nurture artists to expand their skills in the classroom.

Advocacy for the arts, artists and arts organizations of Ketchikan is paramount for the Arts Council as a strategic imperative and organizational philosophy. Several strategies make up KAAHC's overall advocacy platform.

KAAHC fiscal sponsorship of several small arts groups allows the groups to function as non-profits on a small scale. KAAHC provides insurance for the groups, acts as a pass-through for grants, provides financial oversight and files the groups' financials alongside its IRS Form 990.

KAAHC Fiscally Sponsored Groups include:

The Monthly Grind - Monthly open-mic performances by community members, September through May

Sam Pitcher Memorial Scholarship Fund - Fund supports Ketchikan Youth to attend fine arts summer camps. The Scholarship is in its 16th year - having given out almost 70 scholarships over the years

Misty Thistle Pipes and Drums - Ketchikan's bagpipe band, hosts the annual Robert Burns Night in January and performs for fundraisers, memorials and other functions

Ketchikan Medieval and Renaissance Society (KMARS) - KMARS seeks to share history through community events

Roller Brawl - In 2019 KAAHC partnered with a new group formerly Rainforest Roller Girls, the group realized roller derby is rough, and players were getting hurt. However, many of the benefits of the sport, positive body image, exercise, and performance, were still appealing to the group. Roller Brawl will begin creating a new type of performance in 2020 based on those attributes, and while wearing roller skates!

Weekly Arts Updates, the Arts Report, and the Arts Calendar

KAAHC produces and distributes via email and Facebook a weekly calendar of arts happenings throughout the community, upcoming calls to artists, arts classes and other non-profit organizations' meetings. The email list includes KAAHC members, individuals who have opted in, community organizations like the Ketchikan Visitors Bureau, the Greater Ketchikan Chamber of Commerce, the public and privately owned radio station KRBD, KTKN and KFMJ, and the School District. The new KAAHC website calendar features arts activities throughout the year. KAAHC also hosts a weekly Arts Report on KRBD where we talk about events and invite artists and community arts groups to share information.

Advocacy for Alaska State Council on the Arts

2019 was a difficult year for Alaska as the Governor and State government struggled with budget cuts and elimination of so many crucial State programs. The Alaska State Council on the Arts, a State agency, was targeted during this process to be completely eliminated. With the elimination of Alaska's state arts agency, matching funds from the National Endowment for the Arts, and private funds donated to the agency, would have been lost. Simply put, in order to save about $700,000 dollars, the State would have lost $2.5 million in revenue which is disbursed throughout the State through grants and programs.

Luckily, citizens of Alaska quickly reached out to legislators demanding they reverse this process and reinstate the Alaska State Council on the Arts. Although the agency was reinstated, serious damage was wrought during the interim. Damages included loss of staff members who took other jobs, loss of equipment, loss of the lease on the building, and more. ASCA will be rebuilding and recreating important programs throughout 2020. They will also be restructuring to protect the agency and its granting program, silver hand program, art bank, Poetry Out Loud, Creative Forces and more.

Around Alaska local arts agencies like KAAHC also realized our role in helping to protect ASCA. We were able to come together across the state and develop a shared language for our communities to share with our legislators.

But it was YOU who saved the Alaska State Council on the Arts, and it is YOU who keeps the Ketchikan Area Arts and Humanities Council running through your advocacy, donations and volunteerism.

Thank you.

The Ketchikan Area Arts & Humanities Council would like to acknowledge these generous supporters!
